

SHIP CANAL DATA READY FOR ACTION

Engineers Consider Huge Dam in River near Borden- town

MAY SHIFT THE ROUTE

Present Congress Likely To Hear of Waterway Plans

New Jersey's ship canal project, which would provide a route from the Delaware River to Raritan Bay for big freighters, and which it is believed will boom the upper Delaware Valley as an industrial center, may reach the attention of the present Congress.

A survey of conditions, undertaken by five United States Army engineers, has nearly been completed and the report is in shape for presentation.

Some of the plans considered by the engineers are said to include the following:

1. Possible construction of a dam across the Delaware River at a point near White Hill, just below Borden-town, which would lessen the cost of dredging in the Port of Trenton.

2. Construction of spillways near the dam to take care of freshets and ice conditions.

3. Possibility of a change of route to avoid the high elevation of topography at Jamesburg.

4. Erection of a lock at the entrance of the canal at Bordentown.

5. Erection of a lock at the terminal of the canal at Raritan Bay.

The possibility of a dam at White Hill is regarded as one of the most important steps so far taken. Such a project, it is said, would provide for Trenton's future water supply and insure sufficient water at all times.

As outlined by Mayor Donnelly of Trenton, the dam would impound waters and create a lake, without any rise and fall of tide, from White Hill to the Calhoun street bridge, where the pumping station is located.

The depth of such a lake, Mayor Donnelly continued, would be about 25 feet, thus eliminating much of the work of dredging Trenton's port. Millions of dollars would be saved, he contended.

Questioned concerning the erection of bulkheads and rivet-walls between Trenton and White Hill to take care of flood conditions, Mr. Donnelly said that there were a few points where such safeguards would be necessary. The difference in cost between bulk-heads and dredging would warrant it, he said.

Giant locks would be constructed in the dam, he continued, for large vessels, and smaller locks would be provided for the ordinary river craft.

The plan, he said, in explaining the progress of the engineer's report, is only in the problematic stage. There is no way of telling what the engineers will report to Congress. He stressed the fact, however, that the engineers had given serious thought to the project.

The possible change of route, he said, is considered by the engineers to avoid the high elevation of land near Jamesburg. Otherwise the route remains very much as it had been originally planned—almost a straight line from Bordentown to the entrance of Raritan Bay.

Regarding the depth of the canal, Mayor Donnelly said he and his associates would not be satisfied with anything less than 25 feet.

"It must be of that depth if we are to get the full utilization from it," he said.

The question of brackish water filtering through from Raritan Bay into the Delaware River was answered by Mr. Donnelly, who said:

"Enemies of the project have raised a cry about brackish water. That theory has been exploded by Army engineers. There will be no brackish water (Continued on Page 4)

HERE AND THERE THRUOUT BUCKS COUNTY TOWNS

Two men who obtained a "lift" in the rumble-seat of a stranger's car were injured Sunday in a mishap on the Lincoln Highway near South Langhorne.

Later, they learned that the auto had been stolen in Brooklyn and that the driver, a Negro, had fled after the mishap.

The injured men are Patrick O'Brien, of Whiting, Indiana, and Harry Jones, of Reedsboro, Vermont. Both had been in Trenton Saturday night, obtaining lodging from the Salvation Army, and had started on their way to Philadelphia to seek jobs.

Jones sustained a fracture of the jaw and lacerations of the hands, while O'Brien required 16 stitches to close a deep laceration on his jaw.

BETTER FACILITIES FOR STUDENT PRIESTS

More Room Available With Dedication of New Hall

INTERESTING EXERCISES

LANGHORNE MANOR, Dec. 16.—The 70 student priests at St. Mary's Manor will have improved school facilities at their disposal with the placing in use this week of St. Peter's Hall, which building was dedicated Sunday afternoon at three o'clock.

The new structure, which presents an excellent appearance, is of local gray stone, with white limestone trimming, the roof of the two-story building being of red tile.

This third building of the group at St. Mary's is connected by a fire tower to the main building, and furnishes an auditorium-gymnasium which is located on the first floor and will accommodate 400 people; and a number of class rooms on the second floor.

The services of dedication on Sunday were most impressive, with the Rt. Rev. G. O'Hara, D. D., J. C. D., U. G., officiating. Rt. Rev. Monsignor Henry T. Drumgoole, D. D., LL.D., delivered the sermon, dwelling upon the influence of the Blessed Virgin on women. An address by D. Edward Galbally, Litt. D., managing editor of the also a feature of the day's program.

American Ecclesiastical Review, was There were approximately 600 in attendance at the service. A dinner was served at the school at 5.30, covers being placed for 60.

The new structure was started last June, and fulfills a longfelt need. Rev. Father Smith is in charge of the school which is conducted by the Marist Fathers.

Deihl, of 618 Pine street, who injured his hand while engaged upon the work of wrecking a building in Jenkintown for the Dowden Engineering Company, recently, is still a patient in the Abington Memorial Hospital. Mr. Deihl, it is feared, may lose two of his fingers, as the result of catching his hand in a cog-wheel.

BIG GRASS FIRE

Will Bristolians Meet Their Responsibilities?

WILL the people of Bristol meet their individual responsibility and provide sufficient funds with which the Central Relief Committee will be able to provide for the worthy needy of the borough?

That is the question which stands paramount in the minds of that group of citizens engaged in the endeavor to raise a fund of $2,000 for relief purposes here this winter.

Unless the voluntary contributions are forwarded to Thomas Scott, treasurer of the committee, faster than they have been thus far, the residents of this community will fail to aid those who find themselves in need of assistance.

It is the responsibility of Bristol folks to care for those of their neighbors who, through unfortunate circumstances, find themselves without the necessities of life. It is the debt which one citizen owes to another.

The fortunate who have been blessed with the material things of life, should, in their gratitude, be willing to share with those less fortunate.

Charity contributed by Bristol folks belongs here in Bristol for the relief of those who are the neighbors of the givers. Charity given by Bristol folks should not go to Philadelphia or any other outside community, when there is urgent need for it, right here at home.

Some of the corporations doing business in Bristol have solicited contributions from their Bristol employees with which charity is to be dispensed at some distant point. This is not fair to the local community.

Contributions given by Bristol folks should be for charity dispensed here when there is need for such funds in the community in which the donor lives.

Funds thus collected should be allocated to the respective communities wherein they originate if there is a need for such funds in the said communities.

If you have not already contributed you are urged to do so at once, and are requested to send your contribution to Thomas Scott, treasurer, Central Relief Committee, Farmers National Bank.

BRISTOL MAN GUILTY OF VIOLATING PAROLE

Joseph Bowker Sent Back To County Jail at Doylestown

WIFE IS COMPLAINANT

Joseph Bowker, 28, of Bristol, who was released on parole in October this year after serving the minimum of a one- to two-year sentence in the county prison for forcible entry, larceny and receiving stolen goods, was committed to the prison again at Doylestown.

This time Bowker was arrested on the information of his wife, charging assault and battery.

James R. Monroe, of Susquehanna county, who pleaded guilty yesterday before Judge Calvin S. Boyer to a charge of fraudulent conversion, was sentenced to serve six months in the county prison.

The defendant was arrested by Corporal William Francis, of the local sub-station of State Police last week after Monroe had cashed a worthless check at a local garage, first telling them that his car was broken down and that he needed a new tire and tube. He then reported his car stolen to the police, later getting away. He was arrested a short time later in Willow Grove.

Monroe served time in the penitentiary in Maryland and since his arrest here several detainees have been lodged against him by police in other towns and cities in this state.

Walter L. Heil, Jr., of Philadelphia, pleaded guilty to a charge of operating his automobile while drunk on the Lincoln Highway. He was fined $200 and costs and sentenced to prison for thirty days. Heil told the Court that he had been arrested twice in Philadelphia for driving while drunk and being in the company with a drunken driver but that "nothing ever happened about the cases down there."

A parole was granted to William Burke and his brother, John Burke, of Tinticum township, who were sentenced last September on a larceny charge. Peter Haw and Joseph Sigmond, both of Bethlehem, who have served the minimum of a three- to six-month sentence for violation of the liquor laws at the Narrows Hotel, were granted paroles by Judges Keller and Boyer. A parole was also granted to Howard Smith, of Mechanics Valley, who was convicted for operating a car while drunk.

STATE NEWS

LANCASTER, Pa., Dec. 16.—A ring, made from the original gold nugget found by General John A. Sutter when he made his world-famed "strike" on the Sacramento River in California in 1879, is one of the prized possessions of John Musselman, of Lancaster.

The ring was sent to Musselman's grandfather, John Musselman, who was a business partner of General Sutter when the latter lived here.

It was worn by the present owner's grandmother and has been worn since by one member of each succeeding generation.

HARRISBURG, Dec. 16.—Steak and onions may be a toothsome viand—but it's a poor legal defense.

At least, it is for Dauphin county juries. Russell E. Kaylor, of Mount Joy, who was arrested here for driving an automobile while intoxicated, pleaded when arraigned here that he had eaten steak and onions and become violently ill.

The jury returned a verdict of guilty as charged.

INDIANA, Pa., Dec. 16.—Shooting deer, then taking out a hunting license after the kill may sound like a sure-thing proposition, but it backfired on Carl Hopkins, of Upper Lick. Hopkins applied for a license after killing an 11-point buck, was held for a hearing when game officials found out about the kill.

CHARITY GAME HERE TONIGHT IN SCHOOL

Students and Alumni Cage Teams in Benefit Contest

URGE ALL TO ATTEND

(By Leon Schiffer)

Two of the most colorful basketball spectacles of the season will be unfolded in the high school "gym" tonight when the Alumni boys and girls and their alma mater, Bristol High, meet in a benefit game for the unemployed of the borough.

For the cause of charity but, in reality, just spoiling for the fight that was denied them during the football season, the stalwart young men (rather old men) of the Alumni and frisky colts of the Cardinal and Gray will endeavor to outdo each other in the battle.

Both squads cherish hopes of victory although the alumni's hopes of victory will soon be but a mere memory. Taking all into consideration one feels that the old grads have nothing to lose and everything to win; while the school quintet has everything to lose and nothing to win—with their reputation virtually at stake.

In 1928 the alumni lost both games to the local school, while last season both teams broke even. However, from all indications the old grads won't have a chance due to their lack of practice, rheumatism, and astigmatism. Nevertheless, the Cardinal and Gray will probably relent and give the alumni a break, possibly allowing them to score a few points during the game.

Coach Townsend will, no doubt, use the same starting line-up as that which he used in the Hamilton game: Green and Leighton, forwards; Galzerano, center; Tulio and Alta, guards.

Some of the men who will start and perhaps star in the game for the alumni will be "Les" Strumfels, Martin Schiffer, "Porky" Earl, Edgar Odyke, John Black and "Mike" DeRisi. "Al" Bayers, one who is held in high esteem by the public by virtue of his great athletic deeds, will referee the game.

Turning attention to the girls' game we see another stiff battle looming. M. Tomlinson will be scheduled to referee this game. Nothing much remains to be said about this game except that I won't flinch either squad by giving my opinion as to which is the better team.

As yet Coach Diemer is undecided as to what the starting line-up will be, while Lucy Randolph, Sue Strumfels, Bessie McGinley, Elsie Rockhill and Florence Pierce will probably see action during the game for the alumni.

However, there will be more to this magnificent spectacle than two thrill-

LOOT TAKEN FROM BUCKS CO. FOUND; TRIO ARRESTED

Two Women in Jail; Man Jumps from Auto He Was Operating

FIND GOODS IN PHILA.

Mrs. Charles Koch, Edgely, Identifies Jewelry and Clothing

Philadelphia police, acting on a "tip" received following a robbery in New Jersey, arrested two women and a man in whose premises loot taken from Bucks County residences has been found.

The women have been lodged in jail but the man escaped from an automobile while in the custody of the police, having jumped from the car which he was driving. The officers were forced to grab the wheel of the machine and stop the car and by the time this had been done the man was not to be found.

State police from Morrisville and Bucks County Detective Anthony Russo have taken Bucks County individuals to Philadelphia, whose homes have been robbed and some of the loot has been recovered.

The women under arrest give the names of Mary Jackaway and Margaret Reeves, Philadelphia.

The two women and the man were caught in a Philadelphia apartment, after the Philadelphia police, had been given the automobile license number of the trio, who were suspected of having robbed New Jersey residences.

When the police searched the apartment there was found considerable loot, some of which checked with a list of that taken from homes in Edgely and Morrisville.

Mrs. Charles Koch, Bristol Pike, Edgely, has identified all but one piece of jewelry and some of the clothing stolen from the Koch residence September 25th.

The one piece of jewelry missing was not of great value. Mrs. Koch did not recover her fur coat and some of the clothing she did recover has been considerably worn since it left her possession.

The loot taken from the Koch residence was valued at several hundreds of dollars. The robbery was committed during the absence of the family on the afternoon of September 25th.

Among the articles taken were the following woman's apparel:

One silver muskrat fur coat, black lace dress, black velvet coat, new brown silk dress, one Jersey navy blue dress, red silk dress, one brown beaded dress, green transparent velvet dress, several pairs of silk stockings.

The jewelry list is as follows:

Two bracelets with rhinestones in silver settings.

One pearl ring, black and white.

One diamond ring with platinum setting, with a circle of rubies.

String of pearls. Pair of earrings set with green stones.

Men's wearing apparel consists of the following:

Dark gray suit, two light tan suits, one light gray suit, blue serge suit, well worn; tuxedo suit, dark gray overcoat, gray and tan overcoat, gaberdine raincoat, silver black brocade dressing jacket, leather jacket size 38, aviator's outfit made of African cape, brown.

A 12-gauge shot gun with double barrel was also taken.

The woman's wearing apparel was size 16 and the man's 36.

Two Morrisville people, Charles R. Kruesen and Edgar Fischer went to Philadelphia and identified goods stolen from them.

Others from the vicinity of Morrisville will go to Philadelphia today, to attempt to identify goods stolen.

These arrests, police say, will put an end to the series of house robberies in this section recently.

OVER $530 COLLECTED BY BEDMINSTER FOLKS

BEDMINSTER, Dec. 16.—Eighteen fire companies throughout Bucks and Montgomery counties responding to the fire at the Keller store here Sunday, November 9th, will be repaid for their efforts as the results of a canvass throughout the community and which was completed a few days ago.

Because of the seriousness of the blaze almost a score of fire companies from points as far removed as 30 miles responded and many of them rendered valuable assistance in saving at least four houses in the village.

Realizing that without the assistance of the scores of firemen perhaps the entire village would have been wiped out, the community at large felt very much indebted to the men who fought the flames.

A few days after the fire it was decided to make an effort to raise a sum of money for those fire companies. Accordingly, seven men were named to canvass the community. Practically every resident living within a radius of 1½ miles from the village as well as the people of the village were given an opportunity to contribute to the fund.

Having completed the campaign a few days ago, the collectors announced that they were ready to report. The men attending this meeting were much gratified to learn that the sum of $539 had been collected.

However, this entire amount will not be distributed to each company because out of this fund must be taken enough to pay for hose belonging to several companies which had been damaged. After the amount for the damaged hose has been deducted, the remainder will be equally divided among the eighteen companies. Each company, it was announced this morning, will receive more than $25.

The men in session considered briefly the proposed cistern here. For the present nothing will be done, it was said, but the idea is far from being abandoned.

It was stated by a resident of the village that the committee has selected two sites for the location of the cistern and these may be announced in the near future.

OCCUPATIONAL DANGERS

The different branches of science have not always been able to keep in step. Man's inquiring genius has led to valuable discoveries which could not be used without detriment to health, because medical knowledge was unable at first to suggest protective devices. Instances frequently attract public attention.

Improved methods of drilling in rock have set up a fatal occupational disease given the technical name of silicosis. The workers are forced to inhale fine particles of rock dust, which results eventually in a pulmonary condition that causes death. An historic case was that of the women radium workers who two years ago were awarded heavy damages from their employers because they had contracted a malady which breaks down the bone structure and for which there is no known preventive or remedy.

Perhaps the reason these conditions attract such wide attention today is that they were far more general a few years ago, before working conditions in the American factory and office were improved from the standpoint of health. Many printers can still remember when their occupation was a hazardous one, mainly because of poor ventilation and crude methods.

The remarkable thing is that no occupation is too dangerous to attract workers who are willing to take the risk if the remuneration is a little above the standard wage. The government must protect these against themselves.

Much more noble is the sacrifice made by those who have given their lives or health in the laboratory for the advancement of science and for the benefit of mankind.

MAGIC OF SALVAGE

It is often the case that those who are remote from an industry have the inventive turn of mind for it. This is certainly true in the case of discarded automobile tires. In countries where the automobile is relatively scarce the discarded tire is made use of in ways that would open an American's eyes.

In China these discards are used for many purposes. But Spain appears to have developed more uses for the worn-out tire than any other nation. The manufacturers of rubber heels, belts, garters and toy balloons go to this humble source for their raw materials.

Spain is not a producer of tires at present, although it used to be. It imports from the United States large quantities of cast-off automobile tires and other rubber commodities, returning much of the reclaimed rubber to Uncle Sam's shores in the form of toy balloons and other articles.

It has been said that no nation has become permanently prosperous until it has learned the magic of salvage. It must turn its waste to profit for that extra margin of gain which beats competition.

American industry has made reclamation of waste and by-products a source of great wealth. A large percentage of iron and steel waste finds its way back to the furnace to be recast into new manufactures. Railroad efficiency allows of no waste of materials. When the derelict of the motor highways lands in the automobile graveyard it is already well on its way back to the steel furnace.

TIGERS INCREASE HOLD ON LEAGUE LEADERSHIP

By T. M. Juno

The Tigers increased their lead on first place in the A. O. H. Basketball League, barely nosing out the Ramblers, 30-24, last night on the Hibernians' floor.

The Ramblers are in the runner-up position in the league and a win last night would put them a half game to the good but as it turned out the Tigers now lead the league by one and one-half games.

The contest was one of the fastest seen this season and was featured by short rallies on the parts of both squads. The losers tied the score twice but never were in the lead. It looked as if the game was going to be a Rambler victory until Ennis and Dougherty hit the net for field goals with but four minutes to play. Connors then put the game on ice with a wonderful shot from the center of the floor. The Ramblers then proceeded to "freeze" the ball until the final whistle blew.

Every player on both teams with the exception of stationary guard, Joe Mulligan, of the Ramblers, scored two or more points during the forty minutes mele.

The game was outstanding because of the fine teamwork displayed by both quintets who devoted more time to passing than to shooting for the basket.

Orchestra to Entertain Fathers at Next Meeting

The feature at the meeting of the Fathers' Association, to be held in the High School Auditorium on Thursday evening will be a musical entertainment, to be given by the Fathers' Association orchestra of 30 pieces, under the leadership of Joseph Martini.

Since the orchestra made its initial public appearance at the entertainment given by the Mothers' and Fathers' Associations, last week, many kind expressions of appreciation and commendation have been heard from those who attended. The consensus of opinion seems to be that the successful organization of such an orchestra is a great credit to the town and that the townspeople should get behind it, and give it both moral and financial support.

An added feature at the meeting on Thursday evening, will be a basketball game between the Fathers' Association and the Keystone Aircraft Corporation.

The annual election of officers will take place at this meeting.

The Fathers' Association is giving financial help to the Girl Reserves of the Bristol High School in their Christmas charity activities, and because of this assistance, the Girl Reserves will be enabled to entertain a much larger number of children this Christmas, than heretofore.

The members of the Fathers' Association are requested to bring with them to the meeting on Thursday evening, gifts of toys, books, wearing apparel or games, which will be distributed by the Girl Reserves, to the poor children of the town at Christmas. The Girl Reserves work in co-operation with the Central Charity Committee, through the community nurse, Miss Nora Jones, and in this way, their charitable efforts are not misplaced. This organization of high school girls does laudable work along charitable lines. Their Christmas party to the poor children of the community, and since the opening tap-off contains all the elements of thrills and color, the crowd will be on hand. To miss that event is to miss a spectacle that even a spectacular shot.

Although the "gym" is expected to be taxed by a crowd to its fullest capacity, there are still good places to be had. Therefore, don't forget to contribute your bit towards the helping of the poor, and get your seats bright and early!

There are the men that you see on every corner shuffling around and begging; there are the pinch-faced women and hungry children. The background of the alumni and Bristol High basketball games can be found in the dark, cold tenements of Bristol's poor sections. The poor people won't see the game or the milling throngs. They won't hear the deep throated cheers—but the game means more to them than to you.

The game will start promptly at 7.15

If the canal is built, and the Delaware will remain as clean as it always has been.

With the exception of the locks at Bordentown and the Raritan Bay terminal, the Mayor said, the canal will be free of locks.

The survey, conducted by the staff of five hoted Army engineers, was made possible by an amendment carried in the last Rivers and Harbors Bill. The engineers were instructed to investigate the cost of the canal and its best possible route.

Tax-Payers Want To Oust School Board

ously and were being paid by the school board for their services."

The petition names the four directors who received "pay for work" as Elmer S. Umstead, H. Warren Moyer, Arthur B. Moyer and Irwin D. Garis. The petition also covers in detail all the payments made and explains each payment and what it was for.

Continuing the petition sets forth:

"That on March 5, 1928, Ralph H. Hemmig was elected principal of the school without an affirmative vote of a majority of the board being taken, duly recorded, showing how each voted.

"That on May 7, 1928, seventeen teachers were elected in a lump for the ensuing year without an affirmative vote of a majority of the members of the school board being taken, duly recorded, showing how much member voted.

"That on August 4, 1930, the sum of $209 was appropriated to the Alumni Association unlawfully.

"That on August 25, 1930, Charles Wolford was paid $211.97 for repairing a heater without any competitive bidding.

"That the board was incompetent to select the sight for the new consolidated school building and they acted arbitrarily, unlawfully and contrarily to the wishes of a majority of the tax-payers of the township in the selection of the site, and said site was selected without E. S. Umstead, a director, even viewing it.

"That the board of directors is incompetent to properly erect the $110,000 school in the township.

"That the board permitted itself to be tricked into the employment of Marshall Hughes, of Reading, as an architect."
